URGE PROPERTY OWNERS TO POLL FULL STRENGTH

Figures Indicate Many Taxpayers Are Not Registered Voters Here.

Certain figures obtained from the town records, Registry of Deeds and other sources reveal a startling lack of interest in town affairs by many of the local property owners.

As of February 1935, there was a total of 18,860 names on the voting lists in Arlington. Of this number it is estimated that approximately 600 have moved or for various reasons are not now able to vote. Owners of property and their families who reside in town and are registered total approximately 8800. Unregistered property owners and families total approximately 4200, many of whom are not eligible to vote.

State Federation Art Conference Is Held In Arlington

Thursday, from ten in the morning until four in the afternoon, the Seventh District Art Conference of the M. S. F. W. C. was held in the Robbins Memorial Town Hall and was attended by many in spite of the intense cold.

Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter, president of the hostess club, extended a cordial welcome and introduced Mrs. Herbert Stephens of Arlington, who had charge of the program. Mrs. Edward C. Parks, Seventh District Director, and Mrs. David A. Westcott, Third Vice President, were introduced to add their greetings.

The morning session was addressed by Alice Kirk Atwater on "Flower Arrangement"; Mary

Not Given Hearing By Nom. Committee, John Winner Writes

To the Editor:

May I use a little space in your columns to make a brief statement in regard to my candidacy for Town Clerk? I positively did not receive a personal hearing before the Nominating Committee of the Citizen's Committee. It would appear that some people who attended the Friday meeting of the full Committee came away with the impression that all known candidates for the various offices had actually been granted a hearing before the Nominating Committee. I want to correct that impression in my own particular case.

Since I made three personal re-

ABSCONDS WITH $1450 FROM ARL. NATIONAL BANK

Search for Ralph Rich Still Unsuccessful. Bank Fully Protected.

It was revealed Tuesday that at the close of business a week ago last Saturday night, Ralph W. Rich, 28, one of the clerks, walked out of the Arlington National Bank with $1450 of the bank's money in his pocket. When the loss was discovered the police were put on his track, but so far the search has been fruitless.

The local bank, which was fully protected against loss by the bond they held on Rich, is a member of the Federal Reserve System; so the United States Department of Jus-

TOWN MEETING ADJOURNED FOR LACK OF QUORUM

No Business Accomplished Last Night When Too Many Are Absent. Will Meet Friday, February 7, to Consider Important Articles.

Announces Candidacy For School Committee

Edward M. Kelleher of 87 Menotomy road has announced his candidacy for school committee.

Mr. Kelleher is one of the best known men in school circles throughout the state as he is deeply interested in school sports and holds many positions in official associations representing various branches of school athletics.

He is president of the National Basketball Officials Association and for many years has been an official in basketball, baseball and other branches of school sport. As a referee he has also been conspicuous in college sport and is constantly

ANNUAL BOY SCOUT DRIVE STARTS FEB. 10

Russell P. Wise of Arlington Is General Chairman.

The annual drive for funds to carry on Scouting in the communities included in Sachem Council will start simultaneously in Arlington, Bedford, Belmont, Concord, Lexington, Lincoln and Watertown, February 10th and end February 17th.

The drive is under the general direction of Russell P. Wise of Arlington, chairman of the council committee on public relations. Robert P. Trask of Lexington is chairman of the general solicitation com-

For lack of quorum, the town meeting last night was no meeting at all. Those town meeting members who did their duty sat for more than an hour awaiting their less conscientious brothers, but to no avail. The meeting adjourned after a roll call, until Friday evening, February 7 at eight o'clock, and it is urged that all members make an effort to be present.

During the roll call it was remarked that the town meeting members from the Heights precincts had a much better percentage present than any of the others. 134 members is necessary for a quorum, and even after frantic effort for an hour, a total of 124 was the best that could be attained. Not for more than a decade has such a thing happened before, and then it was only because of a bad storm.

While the members were killing seventy minutes they had ample opportunity to inspect the impressive display of wood-carving in the lobby of the town hall. The work is being done as a W. P. A. project and represents carving of the most intricate sort. Many were the favorable comments.

CHILD ARRESTED HERE ALREADY ON PROBATION

It is reported that eleven-year-old John Frazier of Cambridge was caught shop-lifting in Kresge's Arlington store by the manager last Friday afternoon. He was taken to headquarters for questioning by Officer Tynan, and after he had given a name and address which was proven false, he admitted his true identity.

It was then discovered that the boy was on probation from the Somerville Court and was due to appear before the judge on the following morning.

FREDO ARTICLE APPEARS IN THE SUNDAY GLOBE

Local Man Writes Views on Italo-Ethiopian Situation: Is Member of Arlington School Committee.

The following is from the articles on the Italo-Ethiopian conflict which appeared in the Boston Globe last Sunday. It is from the pen of Michael A. Fredo, a member of the Arlington School Committee, and Secretary of the League for American Neutrality.

"Let there be any doubt about it, let me state right here and now, that in any conflict arising between the United States and any nation or group of nations the duty devolving upon the American citizen of Italian stock is the same as the duty devolving upon the American citizen of any other ancestry—unalloyed devotion to the United States.

"Of course, we are Americans, first and forever! Our patriotism is as deep rooted as that of any other group of Americans. We have too often proved our love for the United States for our Americanism ever to be questioned.

The League Question

"I am tempted to make this statement at the outset because of late, owing to the fact that we have

MILDRED BROOKINGS SOLOIST AT LOCAL SYMPHONY CONCERT

To Be Given in Town Hall Tuesday Night. Wide Advance Sale of Tickets Indicates Interest in Most Ambitious Program to Date.

One of the most difficult programs of music it has yet undertaken will be presented by Arlington's Community Symphony Orchestra next Tuesday evening, on the occasion of its second concert of the season to be given at Robbins Memorial Town Hall at eight-thirty o'clock.

The program, while a difficult one, contains some of the loveliest music yet offered in Arlington by conductor Leonard Wood, and the long period spent by the orchestra and its youthful conductor in rehearsals promise Arlington Music lovers a performance that will surpass any of the previous concerts.

The soloist of the evening is to be Mildred Brookings, brilliant young soprano, whose voice has been heard in major roles of grand opera productions. As an associate of the Maiden Civic Opera Company, one of the best of the greater Boston singing organizations, as well as a soloist of prominence with other choral groups, Miss Brookings has won for herself an enviable reputation in operatic

LEGION ELECTS TRUSTEES FOR NEW BUILDING

At a meeting of Arlington Post, No. 39, American Legion, held Tuesday evening, an election was held to select trustees for the new Memorial Building on the site of the old Grand Army Hall. The citizens trustees are Wilson D. Clark, Walter Peirce and Arthur P. Wyman. The Legion trustees are William C. Scannell, Timothy J. Buckley, Gardner C. Porter and John L. Delay.

Now that the deed of trust has been accepted by the post and the trustees elected, it is expected soon that the post will be able to move into its new home.

As a feature of the President's Ball Thursday evening, the Post is to supply a color detail which will be under the command of Charles Tynan.

WOULD SEND BILL LOWDER TO GEORGIA FOR TREATMENT

High School Basketball Coach Has Carried On Despite Infantile. Committee Plans Basketball Tourney and Dance for His Benefit.

Replies to Marsh's "Horse Sense" Letter

Two weeks ago the Advocate published an article which contained certain figures supplied by the Taxpayers Association concerning the upkeep and hire of horses by the Town of Arlington. Loren W. Marsh of the Board of Public Works replied to the article last week in an open letter which denied the findings of the Taxpayers Association and questioned the "horse sense" of that body.

There follows a brief response from the Association, which seems to indicate that arrangements concerning the horses have been changed since.

January 28, 1936

Mr. Loren W. Marsh, Board of Public Works, Town Hall, Arlington, Mass.

Mr. Dear Sir:

At the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Arlington Taxpayers Association, your letter of January 21st was discussed.

Although he was stricken with infantile paralysis last summer, Bill Lowder has courageously carried on his work as coach of the Arlington High School basketball team, in spite of severe handicap. Feeling that he needs and deserves the best of treatment, his friends have conceived the idea of sponsoring a basketball tournament and dance for his benefit. The proceeds are to send Bill Lowder to Warm Springs, Georgia, in the hope that he reap complete recovery.

ART CONFERENCE

Parkman Sayward on "Women's Clubs and the Museum", and Mrs. Robert W. Ferguson on "Interior Decoration". No luncheon was offered by the hostess club, as restaurant facilities are found within easy reach of the Town Hall.

The afternoon session was addressed by Mrs. Stephens on the Penny Art Fund and Joseph G. Reynolds, Jr., who showed many slides of Medieval Cathedrals taken with the color camera. Stained glass windows predominated and were very beautiful. Mrs. Reynolds was at the projector. Three living pictures brought the afternoon to a close. The first, "Penelope Boothby" by Reynolds, which caused a burst of admiration as little Betty Barstow, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl E. Barstow, was darling. The second, Gainsboro's "Mrs. Siddens" depicted by Mrs. Robert Moore, was strikingly real. Mrs. George C. Tewksbury in "The Spinner" by Maes made a beautiful picture.

The Arlington Heights Study Club was given the prize for the largest number of members in attendance on a pro rata basis. Nine members out of a membership of 50 were present. Mrs. Herbert A. Snow accepted the prize on behalf of the club.

The hobby exhibit, collected and arranged by Mrs. Charles Rideout, chairman of the Arlington Art committee and her committee, proved an extremely interesting feature of the conference.

At the right of the entrance was a table spread with woollens and knitted dresses hung for inspection, all knitted by Mrs. Ralph Simons of 48 Bartlett avenue and her sister. A life-sized portrait of Mrs. D. J. Collins executed by her son-in-law, Joseph Coyle, occupied the extreme east corner. Then came an exhibition of hooked rugs from the Walter Wyman home and a long runner executed by Mrs. Harry Hunter. Here also were displayed very old samplers loaned by Mrs. Alfred Patterson. A table of old brass, collected and owned by Mrs. Lester N. Collins, and pottery executed and loaned by Mrs. Leonard Wood, made a beautiful display. A bronze statue, the work of Cyrus Dallin, and Arthur Dallin's stained glass windows occupied the south corner, and on this table were pieces of statuary offered by Mrs. Simonian's brother, Arvarkian, and an old spade loaned by Mrs. Charles T. Hall. The platform was decorated with duck decoys, the work of Dr. Charles A. Thomas, and a huge eagle, carved by the hand of P. F. Hickey, father of Mrs. James R. Powers. He also displayed many ships, which have been admired in previous exhibits held by the Woman's Club. Mrs. Powers also loaned an insignia of the Black Watch Regiment, done by her brother, Private Hickey, during the war. There were several ship models, made and loaned by Mr. Hanson. The table, containing treasures owned by Mrs. John W. Wallen of 78 Florence avenue, "all articles old and authentic in design", occupied the west corner. Here were marionettes made by Betty Pierce. Then came a table of tooled leather articles, made by Mrs. Charles MacKusick, block prints by Stanley Ryerson, and china, painted by Mrs. S. D. Maoulouf.

Mrs. Archibald Eagleson sat busy with her jig-saw and displayed many completed puzzles. Miss Edith A. Whittemore proudly displayed many old valentines belonging to her mother. The terrariums were made by Mrs. Leroy C. Shaw. There was a table of cup plates collected and owned by Mrs. E. W. Byram, and old pieces loaned by Miss Alice Knowles.

The hand-made jewelry, displayed in a large glass case as made by Mrs. Leonard Wood, a member of the Arts and Crafts of Boston, was particularly admired. Mrs. Ernest Davis stood in the extreme north corner making a hooked rug of lovely design. Around her were grouped other rugs made by Mrs. Shedd's mother and Mrs. Frank Walker's mother, Mrs. Sears.

The many dolls of foreign lands were loaned by Mrs. Laurence Peirce, Mrs. E. L. Shinn and Mrs. James A. Bailey. Mrs. Walter Hilliard's doll, seventy-five years old, and the several other old dolls, were loaned by Mrs. H. H. Baldwin. The four quilts, made by Madam Frank Bott for her four children, were much admired, as were the many trays painted and loaned by Mrs. W. Elliott Hanna.

Behind each table hung Paisley shawls, all beautiful, and loaned by Mesdames James A. Bailey, Irving Poole, Joseph P. Wyman, George A. Hastings, Edward H. Kittredge, Warren A. Rutherford and Herman Barker. Rare old stamps were loaned by Charles Skinner and Dr. Irving I. Andrews. Mrs. George A. Hastings had a table of glass hats and teakwood elephants. Mrs. Charles Shedd and Mrs. Morton Bradley exhibited silhouettes; Miss Fox and Mrs. Joseph Wyman, miniatures; Mrs. Alfred Patterson, old spoons; Mrs. Frank Morse, old bonnets.

The members of the Art Committee who assisted Mrs. Rideout are: Mrs. Morton C. Bradley, Mrs. W. Elliott Hanna, Mrs. George A. Hastings, Mrs. Albert W. Hilliard, Mrs. E. H. Kittredge, Mrs. Lucinda F. Spofford and Miss Alice Knowles.

The Stamp Exhibit

One flat glass case was devoted to the exhibit of the Arlington Stamp Club. In this case the most conspicuous exhibition was that of Christmas seals prepared by Mr. Charles W. Skinner of the High School. All in all it constituted a beautiful collection. Starting with the United States of 1909 and subsequent issues, there was representation from Denmark, France, Greece, Belgium, Jamaica, Sweden, South Africa and even Trencenanu. Three specimens of the Surinam Green Cross were included. Most beautiful was the wonderful set in memory of Queen Astrid that has just appeared. It would be hard to find anywhere a group of stamps that combines beauty and interest in such a large measure.

A varied collection on Czechoslovakia was also shown. Here were books, post cards, autograph photographs, a little brochure or two, and commemorative stamps. The whole centered upon that most important event in European history, the resignation of President Thomas G. Masaryk and the succession of Dr. Edward Benes. Masaryk's own book, "The Making of a State", and the biography of Benes by Crabites, together with the post card pictures of Dr. Benes, stamped and dated the day of his election, form one part of the collection.

Extracts from the travel collection of postage stamps of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur I. Andrews, including the little brochure, "Through Czechoslovakia by Post", formed another.

The various issues of Czechoslovak stamps, commemorating the various anniversaries of President Masaryk were not without interest, and there was included also various special cancellations for these anniversaries.

HIGHWAY HIGHLIGHTS

How's Your Knowledge of Cars, Roads and Travel?

Q. What is advocated to reduce congestion in cities and towns from traffic that desires to pass through without stopping? A. By pass highways with suitable connections for the town. Congestion is cut down and merchants are thus able to offer better service to the customers that stop. Chance business is found to be so small that it does not count.

Q. Are colored gasolines more effective than non-colored? A. The coloring itself is of no benefit. Colors are used to identify brands.

Q. How and where did the gasoline tax originate? A. In Oregon, in 1919, as an equitable method of raising money for good roads because land taxes could not be boosted sufficiently to build roads as fast as they were needed. A gasoline tax is now collected in each state, but not all the revenue is spent on roads.

Q. Is it legal to have your car washed on Sunday? A. The NRA Garage Operator's Code does not permit car washers and polishers to work on Sundays, and the prohibition is said to be rigidly enforced.

Q. When do most fatal accidents occur? A. The rate of death per highway accident last year was 43.5 per cent worse at night than in daylight. Of the 30,000 fatal accidents during the year, 11,500 occurred on Saturday and Sunday with the Sabbath leading, as compared with 18,500 on all the remaining days of the week. Underwriters figures show a 20 per cent increase in the first six months of this year.

Q. What will reduce the accident rate? A. Careful driving, widening of roads and arterial streets and buildings of rail-highway grade separations.

Girl Scout Notes

The Cedar Hill Winter Carnival comes Saturday, February 8. Events start at 10 a. m. with a ball game on snowshoes and close at 3:30 with a snow battle. In the interim, skiing, snow-shoeing, sledding, tobogganing, skating, snow sculpturing, and various races are important features. A costume contest to select the Snow Queen and her Court will be held in the morning. When the Snow Queen is crowned, the court entertainment of fancy skating and skiing begins the afternoon program. Races of various sorts follow. Skis, snow-shoes, and sleds may be rented. Toboggans are not to be rented, but rides are bought. Arlington will have charge of the skating, and will be on hand to help supervise, instruct and act as policemen in keeping the ice free for the fancy skaters.

Troop 1

This year troop one has broken all records and we now have forty-seven members in our troop. Several girls came in today. Alice Tarbox came from another troop. Adelaide Bates received her health winner badge today. June Hall passed health. Troop 1 has accomplished more this year than ever before. The troop committee is helping us by instructing different classes. The first aid class under the direction of Mrs. Young, is progressing rapidly. The first class scouts are all very busy now training tenderfoots. Thomas Baati, Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 5, was at our meeting today. He showed us just how to have a good meeting. Today every girl who has a uniform wore it, and everyone was ready for inspection. We are all doing our best as to selling cookies. One girl has sold thirty-three dozen.

—Betty Mahoney.

Troop 3

Troop 3 played dodge ball. Five girls were in the middle. If the one throwing the ball, hit one of those in the circle, they exchanged places. Then we had classes. Captain Frost was absent.

—Jeanne Garcelon.

Troop 4

Troop 4 met in the music room of Junior High East at four o'clock Monday. Attendance and dues were taken. Miss Cobb, a former teacher in the Crosby School, gave a very interesting and helpful talk on birds and trees. Dorothy Crosby, Irene Materes and Annette Kreem earned their Girl Scout pins.

—Jean Adams.

Troop 7

Troop seven chose new patrol leaders today. They are Mary Wyllie, Winifred Axelby, Ruth Peirce, Muriel Humphreys. The seconds are Gertrude Goyt, Eileen Kelly, Dorothy Anfantis, Gloria Fredrickson. Mrs. Dodge spoke to us about cookies, and a card party the troop committee is running for campership. We have sold two hundred dozen cookies already. We formed classes after this, and closed with a good night circle.

—Mary Dodge.

Troop 8

We met in the accustomed place in Junior High West last Tuesday. After the dues had been collected instruction was given in nature, second class, first aid, and map making, by Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Power and Mary Baird. As a result of the announcement of cookie-day, the girls resolved to obtain as many orders as possible. We started homeward after an enjoyable meeting.

—Betty Anne Evans.

Troop 11

Two girls were welcomed into the troop today from troop 5. The second class scouts continued their first aid class with growing enthusiasm, and the others played games. We have lost several meetings because of storms, and no school, but we are still in the running.

—Mary Guinan.

Troop 12

Captain, Joanna V. MacGilvray. Lieutenant, Dorothy James. The dressmaking classes which are being held at Mrs. Griffin's and Mrs. Des Marais are almost completed. A tea was given at Mrs. James for the mothers of the scouts. The children who will receive their hostess badge attended. Registration Day is on February 1st. The meeting was opened in the same formal way. The Scouts were then dismissed to their classes. Games were played and the meeting was then closed by singing many familiar scout songs.

—Loretta McCarthy.

Troop 13

At our regular Wednesday meeting at Robbins Library, James Kidder taught the Scouts different fundamentals of electricity. We shall be able to get our electrician badge after we finish the course. Next week each girl is to bring a gold chisel and a screw-driver.

Troop 14

Troop 14 held their meeting Monday, January 27 at 3:45 p. m. at the Hardy School. Last Monday we didn't have any meeting because there wasn't any school. Today we were quite busy. Tenderfoot girls passed table-setting, and the second class girls are still working on signalling and first aid. We hope to have a few of them pass in the near future. If they don't the Tenderfoot girls will catch up and be ahead of those who are supposed to be ahead.

—Navart Avakian.

Troop 15

Miss Elizabeth Hughes took the place of Mrs. Dallin who was absent because of a severe cold. Miss Eleanor Rowell will be absent from the troop for two weeks because of the mid-year exams at college. We played a game with scout-laws and patrol 2 won. After that we sang taps.

—Norma Anderson.

Cookie Day Friday

This afternoon (Thursday) several members of the Council will be busy packing dozens of Girl Scout cookies into bags ready for delivery tomorrow. Mrs. Arthur Dodge, 10 Hillside avenue, is in charge.

Conservatory Pupils

Please Many Admirers

Recently the Ensemble Group of the Arlington Conservatory of Music have been making their first appearances before different local organizations. A great deal of favorable comment has been the result.

Last week, before the Crosby P. T. A., there appeared on the program a string trio, a string quartet, and a brass sextet. These same groups, plus a violin quartet, appeared Monday evening at the Park Avenue Congregational Church.

The groups are composed of the following children: String Trio—Helen Swanson, violin; Althea Perkins, cello; Martha Swanson, piano. Violin Quartet—Carleton Patriquin, Henry Moore, Warren Young, Robert Hutchinson. String Quintet—Charlotte Baird, Betty-Ann Evans, Letitia Doble, Ellora Levine (violins) and Althea Perkins, cello. Brass Sextet—Warren Patriquin, Harry Dadmun, Robert Brown (trumpets), Ruth Bamberg, Ruth Mellen (French Horns), Alden Douthart, trombone.

The string quartet will play for the Bradshaw-Friendly Society next Monday.

Instruction in Ensemble is given private pupils of the Conservatory without additional charge.

WILLIAM NORTON'S LEG

AMPUTATED AT SYMMES

The Advocate learns that William H. Norton, who was badly hurt when he was hit by an automobile on Massachusetts avenue at Broadway last November, suffered the loss of his leg last week at Symmes Arlington Hospital. Mr. Norton sustained a multiple fracture of the leg at the time of the accident, and when bones would not heal in these many weeks, it was necessary to amputate in order to save his life.

Mr. Norton, who is seventy-four years old, is the proprietor of the Regent Bowling Alleys and is well known in Arlington.

EXCELLENT ORIGINAL PLAY IN GROUP OF THREE GIVEN BY FRIENDS OF THE DRAMA

The Friends of the Drama presented three one-act plays in the clubhouse last Friday and Saturday evenings before large audiences on both occasions. The effects of the three plays were as different as were their scripts. The two original plays, "Monkey Do" by Parker Wood, and "This Mortal Coil" by Russell T. Sharp, caused most of the discussion, the former because it was so bad and the latter because of its excellence. The third play, "They're None of Them Perfect", by Sophie Kerr, was a very amusing commentary on some of the mad-dening characteristics of husbands.

In addition to the plays there was a short business meeting Friday evening with the president, Miss Marjorie Manning, in the chair. Mrs. David R. Kennedy read a very comprehensive report of the previous meeting and there were several announcements of coming events, which appear in detail elsewhere.

The walls of the auditorium were adorned with artistic works of several members of the club, and these attracted much attention between the acts and before and after the performances. The art exhibit was to have occupied a place by itself last Sunday afternoon but was postponed because of the blizzard.

"This Mortal Coil", which was the feature of the play program, was a piece of excellent workmanship, and it was as well played as it was conceived and written. The entire action took place about a dinner table whose only illumination was a single over-head spot and a dim blue light from the foot. The sombre act consisted simply of dead black drapes.

The Story

For five years Dr. Enderly had harbored the suspicion that his best friend, John Brown, president of the Brown Steel Company, had been murdered by two other officers of the company, with the assistance of a weak and greedy clerk in the accounting department. They desired his death in order to win control of the company and succeeded in supplying a motive for suicide by falsifying the books to show that Brown had embezzled funds from his own company. Brown was shot with his own gun and apparently by his own hand.

Dr. Enderly suspects all this but is unable to obtain a shred of evidence. He therefore devises a plan to bring the men to justice, and the play opens in the dining room of his home with the suspected men, Rufus Drummond and Milton Horowitz and their accomplice, Horace Pike, sitting about the dinner table. The meal is finished and Dr. Enderly proposes a toast to the dead, which they all drink under protest. Enderly then explains that he has perfected a plan by which the living and the dead may share of the laughs, and Mrs. John Matthews was very charming as the wife of the man who left the top off the tooth paste tube. Margaret Hall did a nice job, and so did Eleanor Gould, who had not a word to say until the very end. But when she did she said plenty about her husband who was neat (spoken with a sneer). Fred Ennis, the one man in the play, had one line to say just as the curtain was being drawn, but he put plenty of action into his five seconds of prominence.

Comedy Is Tragedy

"Monkey Do", written by Parker Wood in a moment of utter feeble-mindedness, was undoubtedly one of the worst plays ever staged by the Friends of the Drama. "Monkey Do" just didn't. The director, Norman Watt, and the players did as well as they could, but with practically nothing to work on, their best comedy was deeper tragedy than "Swift Sword" ever accomplished. Mr. Wood swears by all that is sacred that he will never again attempt to write for a laugh. His laugh in this case was distinctly hollow. The players who were unfortunate enough to be cast in this farce were Dorothy Moran, Richard Covelle and Paul Hutchinson.

The stage committee was composed of James T. Snow, Walter Hatch, Bradford Doty, Paul White, Jack Morine, Richard Guinan, Warren Ford and Clarence Day. In charge of properties were Alice Frost, Laura Sampson and Peggy Frost. The make-up was by Anne Kennedy and Lillian Rice. Coiffures were by courtesy of the Edith Hine Beauty Salon, 691 Massachusetts avenue.

The following are those whose works made up the club's art exhibit: Beatrice Evers, Barbara Llewellyn, Prescott Baston, Olive Hannah, Barbara Wood, Curtis Pinkham, Jane Goodwin, Anne Kennedy, Lillian Morine and Barbara Sears. Miss Kennedy had charge of arranging the display.

Spiced Plum Jam

4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
7 1/2 cups (3 1/4 lbs.) sugar
1/2 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, pit (do not peel) about 2 1/2 pounds fully ripe plums. Cut in small pieces and crush thoroughly. Add 1 teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, and allspice, or any desired combination of spices.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle. Mix and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Skim; pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 11 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

SPORTS

LOCAL SURGE FALLS SHORT IN GAME'S CLOSING MINUTES

Arlington Suffers Second Setback of Season, Succumbing to Melrose, 4 to 3. Melrose Scores Four Times Before First Local Tally.

By J. Leo Donohue
The Arlington High hockey team suffered its second defeat of the year last Friday night at the Boston Arena, being beaten by Melrose, 4 to 3. Melrose put itself into the league playoffs by winning this game, marking up all four goals before Arlington was able to score at all.

Melrose scored on its first offensive rush of the evening. Sullivan was responsible for this goal, letting loose a hard low shot that Bill Dutton was unable to see. Just two minutes later Sullivan of Melrose again tallied to put Melrose in the lead with a margin of two markers. This goal was scored from scrimmage and was a difficult shot to stop because the players were knotted up in front of the net. Smith of Melrose scored before the period was over. This goal was another one of those scrimmage shots that just happen. The Arlington fans were about ready to fold up their programs and go home.

The slaughter still persisted in the first couple of minutes of the second period, when Priestley dented the fabric for another Melrose tally. The Arlington team awakened by the smell of defeat, turned on the heat at last. Johnny Chipman started the fireworks by weaving his way through the entire Melrose team and sinking a hard shot into the corner of the net for Arlington's first score. The second period ended with Arlington trailing 4 to 1.

In the third period Arlington had Melrose on the run all the time. As 6 minutes passed Bob Mee soloed the length of the ice and planted one behind Birdsal, the goalie. This left Arlington only 2 goals behind Melrose. Bob Mee again turned in an almost exact replica of his first goal to put Arlington one point behind. Towards the end of the period Coach Downes sent in five forwards in an effort to tie it up but the strategy was of no avail.

The summary:
MELROSE—Smith, Rotundi, lw; Sullivan, Hennessey, c; Shaw, Noyes, rw; Priestley, ld; Mayne, rd; Birdsal, Valtser, g.

ARLINGTON—Owen, Mee, rw; Chipman, Flores, c; Preston, Kee, lw; Mee, rd; Lane, ld; Dutton, g.

Score—Melrose 4 Arlington 3.
Scoring—First period: Melrose, Sullivan, 3:11; Melrose, Sullivan (Priestley), 5:54; Melrose, Smith, 6:55.

Second period—Melrose, Priestley (Sullivan), 2:48; Arlington, Chipman, 5:04.

Third period—Arlington, Mee, 6:15; Arlington, Mee, 8:40.

Penalties—Lane, leg check; Mayne, tripping; Mee, charging; Lane, leg check; Grant, interference; Hennessey, holding; Shaw, leg check.

Referees—Robertson and Mahoney.
Time—Three 12-m. periods.

SPORTS ADVOCATOR
A testimonial dance will be given to Bill Lowder on February 13, at the Senior High School auditorium. Preceding the dance, there will be basketball games between some of the leading high school quintets in the state, including Chelsea, Somerville and Cambridge Latin.

Bob O'Reilly, the defense man who was injured in the Stoneham game, was seen in the Arena making a game effort to handle his hockey stick with one hand because of the uselessness of the other.

Don't be discouraged with the basketball team. It is to be remembered that back in '28 the team of that year lost 4 out of its first 7 games. And that in that same year they won the Tech Tourney.

The play-offs start Saturday afternoon. Promising games have already been carded. Arlington plays Stoneham and will be out for revenge for the defeat that they suffered two weeks ago.

FINED FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING IN ARLINGTON
Following a crash on Massachusetts avenue at Thorndike street last Saturday night, Dale J. Jelley of Nashua, New Hampshire, was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of liquor and drunkenness. The accused appeared in court on Monday and was fined fifty dollars on each account.

The other machine was operated by Wendell W. Locke of Winchester and was waiting for a light change when hit. Two passengers in the Jelly car, Sylvia Chase, 19, and Mrs. Alice Provencher, 60, both of Derry, New Hampshire, were taken to Symmes Arlington Hospital to be treated for injuries.

Everett Leaves Local Loopers in the Dust

The Arlington High quintet lost an exciting but rough game to Everett Tuesday afternoon at the Everett High gym by a score of 31 to 14.

In the first half not many points were scored. One of the teams would get the ball under the other's basket when the play would be interrupted by a foul. These fouls were very frequent and Arlington missed many points by not taking advantage of opportunity. Arlington led up until the second period, but after that Everett took over the reins and was never once threatened. The half ended with the score 12 to 9 in Everett's favor.

As the second half got under way Everett put on a scoring spree that left Arlington in the dust. Dick Connolly, all-scholastic backfield ace, led his team in scoring for the day, with 8 points. Arlington's defense cracked under the pressure that Everett put on in this half. In the closing minutes of the game Arlington was taking shots from all over the court but they were very erratic and did not bring down Everett's lead, to any great extent.

THE PLAY-OFF

The Interscholastic Hockey League members met last Monday night to iron out the problem of parring off for the playoffs. Cambridge Latin and Newton were tied for fourth place and it was decided to let them play a game in the Arena last Tuesday afternoon.

Different than what was already planned, it was agreed that the entire eight teams would be in the playoffs.

The schedule was drawn up as follows, with X indicating the winning team of the Newton-Cambridge Latin affair, and Y indicating the loser.

Feb. 1, Garden, 1 p. m.
X vs. Melrose; Belmont vs. Medford; Arlington vs. Stoneham; Rindge vs. Y.

Feb. 7, Arena, 7 p. m.
Stoneham vs. X; Belmont vs. Rindge; Arlington vs. Melrose; Y vs. Medford.

Feb. 15, Garden, 1 p. m.
Arlington vs. X; Belmont vs. Y; Melrose vs. Stoneham; Medford vs. Rindge.

In case of tie for top place, the two teams will play February 22, in the Garden.

JUNIOR EAST FIVE WINS OVER CENTER, 12 TO 5

The Junior High East Basketball team defeated the Junior High Center, 12 to 5 at the High School gym last Friday. The game was a defensively played contest, as the score indicates. Igoo and Mernick shared the scoring honors for the East, while White led the offense for the Center.

LADIES LEAGUE

The Middlesex Bowling League will hold its first match of the season, a two, three string four point game, with the Norwood Ladies Bowling League, February 10.

Three teams from each league will participate. The match will be held at the South Station Bowling Alleys. The secretary of the New England Bowling Association, Bill Finch, has reserved the entire top floor of the alleys for this occasion. The league has increased 100% since December 1. The Arlington representatives of the league are called the Arlington Suburban team, and bowl at the Arlington Recreation Alleys.

TO HOLD BOY SCOUT MASS MEETING HERE

W. Davis of Arlington, held Sunday afternoon in the hearing room of the Town Hall, representatives from Arlington, Belmont, Lexington, Watertown and Waltham were present and decided to hold two meetings, one in Arlington, February 5th, and another in Watertown the same week, time and place to be announced later.

At the Arlington meeting, which will take in Arlington, Belmont and Lexington, there will be three speakers, one from each town. The public is invited.

Most of the scouts of the three towns will be on hand, each scout accompanied by one or both of his parents, as well as friends. The speakers are in no way officially associated with scouting although deeply interested in it. They will tell, from the viewpoint of the average citizen what scouting has done for our communities and how necessary it is that the movement be carried on with greater power and enthusiasm than ever before.

The citizens committee also voted to send letters to the editors of the various papers in the council area asking their cooperation in putting the drive across and also letters to the different organizations in the towns asking their active help.

The representatives present at the meeting were Selectman Ernest W. Davis of Arlington, chairman; Selectman George S. McLaughlin, Belmont; Fletcher W. Taft, Editor Lexington Minute Man; Frank A. Scott, Supt. of Schools, Belmont; K. J. Newell of Watertown, who will be in charge of the Watertown mass meeting; Brenton E. Tyler of Waltham, and Howard E. Cousins of Arlington.

—Lawrence P. Bliss, manager of the Bayburn Company, will leave tomorrow on a three-weeks' South American cruise including the Panama Canal and West Indies.

WOULD SEND BILL LOWDER SOUTH FOR TREATMENT

Four of the best basketball teams in the state have offered their services in the tournament, which will be conducted in the new auditorium of the Arlington High School on the evening of February 13.

Somerville will be matched against Chelsea, and Medford will engage Cambridge Latin. Each will play a game of half the regulation length. In addition, Lowder's old team, which won the M. I. T. tournament longer ago than its members like to admit, will play the present high school team. Among the ex-champions who will play will be Joe Donahue, John Driscoll, Joe Beasley, Tim McNamara, Roger Blackman, George Lowder and others.

Dancing to the music of Duke Charles and his orchestra will round out the evening. Tickets are inexpensive and are in the hands of the following committee: Joe Beasley, Francis Keefe, Edward Keleher, Charles Downs, Fred Ostergren, Henry Hornel, Doc McCarty, Ted Humphrey, Tom King, Johnnie Cuniff, George Lowe, John Bishop, James Golden, Walter Gutzman, Lou Doctoroff, Al Leary, Charles Crocco, Johnny Kelley, Joe Donahue, Tim McNamara, John Driscoll, Joe Callahan, Parker Wood, Arthur Lane, Thomas Keefe and Robert Forest.

JUNIORS WILL PRESENT PLAY PRESIDENT'S NIGHT

That a cold shower may turn into cash is proved by a one-act comedy entitled "Cold Water and Cash", which will be presented by the Arlington Junior Woman's Club President's Night, Monday, February 3, at 8:00, in the Robbins Memorial Library Hall. The cast which includes Jean Otley, Nancy Shedd, Irene Allison, Eleanor McCormick, Ruth Lorentz, Myrtle Pierce, Elizabeth Shedd and Virginia Keefe, is coached by Mrs. John Winner and Miss Katharine Hart, both active members of the Friends of the Drama. Miss Ruth Olive, Chairman of Music, has obtained Miss Annahed Avakian, a talented young Arlington violinist, for the musical program. Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter, President of the Senior Woman's Club; Mrs. Harold B. Wood, and the Presidents of the Junior Clubs of the 7th Massachusetts District, are guests of the evening.

A mysterious Leap Year Dance is featured on the program of the Valentine Party for the Junior Woman's Club on February 14 at the home of Mrs. A. D. Woodworth, 26 Norfolk road. The committee (Lucille Bradbury, Marian Young, Jean and Jean Hayden), is providing a variety of games including "Monopoly" for non-bridge players. Games will be followed by refreshments and dancing. There is a limit of thirty couples and many reservations have already been taken, so reservations, for one or more persons, should be given to Mrs. A. D. Woodworth, Arlington 0789-M, immediately and may be paid for February 3.

ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Walter E. Lannefeld delightfully entertained yesterday night at her beautiful home on Valley road, which overlooks surrounding towns, with Boston in the distance. Twelve friends sat down to a delicious luncheon at one o'clock.

The table was dressed with blue glass, blue candle sticks with red candles, and red and white sweet peas, artistically arranged in a large blue bowl, as a centerpiece. Each guest wore a corsage bouquet of red and white sweet peas, the gift of the hostess.

After luncheon, contract was played. The high scores were held by Mrs. L. P. Hobbs, Mrs. Stanley E. Cook and Mrs. Joseph P. McCann. Attractive prizes were presented by the hostess. This was the second of a group of three luncheons, extended by Mrs. Lannefeld to her many friends.

JUNIOR HIGH WEST NOTES

Warning cards will be sent out tomorrow to those students who are not doing satisfactory work in any subject, advising them to have conferences with the teachers concerned, about doing extra work to raise their averages.

A basketball game played last Wednesday with the Beebe Junior High School of Malden, resulted in a score of 27-3 in favor of Malden. The Malden team had a number of more experienced men, and made an easy victory. The second team game was also won by Malden, but was not quite so emphatic a victory, the score being 10-6.

A meeting of the mathematics teachers was held Monday afternoon, at which time the pupils' ability to do the two kinds of mathematical examples—the mechanical type and the reasoning type—was discussed. Dr. Hawkes has been making quite a study of this for some time, and has presented the problem to the math teachers with the hope that it may help in developing the students' ability to think in mathematics.

Curtis W. Pinkham, chairman of the committee in charge of the ball, reports that the hall will be decorated in novel motif by Paul White and a large committee. The James Carmody orchestra of twelve members has been engaged to furnish inspirational rhythm.

As usual, the ball will be a costume affair, but of course not strictly so. For those who come in costume, a variety of prizes will be offered. A special prize will be awarded for the best and most authentic theatrical costume. Original and comical costumes in any line will also be judged for prizes.

MRS. RUGG GIVES INTERESTING TALK ON CURRENT BOOKS

The first of a series of book talks by Mrs. Winifred King Rugg was given on January 22nd in the Vestry of the Orthodox Congregational Church, to an interested and enthusiastic audience who had been eagerly awaiting this opportunity to hear an expert interpretation of the year's fiction. Mrs. Rugg opened her lecture with a brief outline of the history of this branch of writing in our country, explaining that there was no genuine American literature before 1820. Between 1820 and 1850 Cooper, Hawthorne and Poe gave us real American fiction, using native scenes and characters. These authors were followed from 1850-1890 by a host of authors somewhat less distinguished. The most important of these were William D. Howells and Mark Twain. In the first years of the century, romanticized sectional novels were abundant. From 1910-1929, largely because of the war, a great deal of material was imported from abroad. Since then the depression years have left their influence on the books produced. A group of young proletarian writers have brought out novels that are colored by the authors' interests in labor, socialism and international relations.

Folk Fiction—stories of the manner of life of different groups of people—was Mrs. Rugg's topic for the afternoon. She described a number of the leading books of the season, telling the story and also speaking of the distinctive features of their construction, such as spiritual range, serious presentation of a way of living, the proportion of frustrated or fulfilled lives, realistic or idealistic treatment, sense of beauty, clear or involved treatment, vigor or lack of power. The books which were most fully analyzed were as follows:

"If I Have Four Apples", by Josephine Lawrence; "The Folks", by Ruth Suckow; "Vein of Iron", by Ellen Glasgow; "Deep Dark River", by Robert Rylee; "Golden Apples", by Marjorie Rawlings; "Far Enough", by Eugenie de Kalb.

A number of other books were more briefly mentioned and the afternoon closed with a tea at which Mrs. Perham and Mrs. Guernsey were the pourers. After this pleasant hour, the members of the audience undoubtedly wished to find for themselves the books which had been so invitingly introduced to them.

The next one of Mrs. Rugg's Book Talks will be given February 4th, also in the vestry of the Orthodox Congregational Church.

The music consisted of a quartet of violins from the Arlington Conservatory of Music. The artists were, Carlton Patriquin, Henry Moore, Warren Young and Robert Hutchinson.

Club Activities

Garden Club Tower Mother's Club

An invitation to members of the Arlington Garden Club has been received from the Newtonville Garden Club to attend the lecture on Wild Flowers. Mr. George D. Aiken from Putney, Vermont, will be the speaker. The meeting will be held at 10 a. m. on Friday, February 7, at the Newtonville Woman's Club, Washington Park. Tickets may be procured from Mrs. Ralph B. Lancaster before February 5.

The study group which met on January 21, promises an interesting program on plant propagation with practical experience supervised by Prof. Paul Dempsey at the Waltham Field Station.

The club was well represented at the lecture on Color in the Garden, by Donald Wyman of the Bay State Nurseries at the Belmont Garden Club last week. Mrs. Ralph B. Lancaster, Mrs. Thomas P. Pitre, Mrs. John B. Proudfoot, Mrs. Harold J. Cue, Mrs. J. William Fellows, Mrs. Arthur J. Covell and Mrs. George H. MacGillivray reported a most enjoyable evening.

Clover Lend-a-Hand

The last meeting of the Clover Lend-a-Hand was one of special interest, as members were entertained at luncheon by Mrs. Arthur J. Wellington at the Wellington home, 86 Pleasant street. Mrs. Frank V. Noyes is the president of the club which has been in existence for many years, and whose work is what the name implies—

"Lend-a-Hand".

The Junior Garden Club will meet on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Junior Library Hall. Mrs. William J. Shinn of Winthrop will be the speaker.

Emblem Club

The Arlington Emblem Club, No. 46, will hold its 3rd annual banquet Wednesday, February 5th, at 7:15 p. m. at the Fox and Hound Club, Beacon street, Boston. Mrs. Esther O'Brien is chairman of the following committee: Mrs. L. Corbett, Mrs. Lawrence Carrigan, Mrs. Daniel Barry, Mrs. Augustus Powers, Mrs. E. J. O'Brien.

Eastern Star

Longfellow Chapter, 116, Order of the Eastern Star, installed officers Tuesday evening in Robbins Memorial Town Hall before a large audience. Later there was dancing. The newly-elected officers are Elizabeth Allis, worthy matron; Arthur Houston, worthy patron; Edith I. Rae, associate matron; Walter A. Wiperman, associate patron; Rosella M. Schnetzer, secretary; Ethel F. Kinney, treasurer; Edith W. Bow, conductress; Priscilla M. McEwen, associate conductress; Blanche Cole, chaplain; Isabel M. Slack, marshal; Elizabeth Henderson, warden; Allen Corbett, sentinel. Marion H. Kennedy was the installing officer.

Sunshine Club

The Arlington Heights Sunshine Club held its regular social meeting on January 22 at the home of Mrs. H. J. Anderson, 144 Hillside avenue. Mrs. Whitton was assisting hostess. Dessert was served and was followed by bridge. Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Partridge and Mrs. Morse having high scores.

Heights Study Club

The Arlington Heights Study Club held a very successful bridge on Tuesday afternoon in the Parish House of the Park Avenue Church for the benefit of their Scholarship Fund. The prize for each table was an attractive bowl of narcissus bulbs. The highest scorers in the hall in both contract and auction were awarded additional prizes. They were Mrs. Herbert Peirce and Miss Elizabeth Davis. Mrs. H. K. Simmons of Wollaston avenue was the fortunate winner of both a cake donated by S. S. Pierce and a box of candy from Witherell's, and Mrs. John W. Downs, formerly of Brantwood road, now of Winchester, won a fine cake donated by Mrs. Clarence Johnson of Hillside avenue. The committee in charge was Mrs. Edward L. Shinn, chairman; Mrs. George Parker, Mrs. Frederick Parker, Mrs. Harry Moore, Mrs. J. H. Mead, Mrs. Norval Bacon and Mrs. Herbert Anderson.

JUNIOR WEST P. T. A.

A meeting of the executive board and newly-formed membership committee of the Parent-Teacher Association of Junior High West was held January 22nd at 8:00 p. m. at the school. The regular meeting of the Executive Board was conducted by Selectman Harold M. Estabrook, president, following which plans were discussed to increase membership of the parents in the association.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur A. Dodge, tentative plans have been formed by the committee to hold for all parents of Junior High West pupils, a travel talk and general acquaintance meeting for social purposes some time in March. Further plans for this "get-together" will be announced later.

Action was taken by the board, electing Arthur Monk, chairman of the Troop Five Boy Scout Committee, as a member of the Board. He will report to the P. T. A. at these meetings the progress of Troop Five, which the association sponsors.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Ernest H. Freeman, 11 Lincoln street, entertained the Arlington Historical Society Tuesday evening at their regular meeting held in the vestry of the Unitarian Church, with "Reminiscences of Old Arlington."

The speaker's father, the late George Freeman, obtained numerous beautiful pictures of spots in Arlington and elsewhere. This was his hobby. Unfortunately, although 2000 slides were made, relatively few were from photographs taken in Arlington. These were explained as they were thrown on the screen by the lantern operator, David L. Peirce and proved intensely interesting to the audience, as nearly all of Mr. Freeman's hearers could recall the scenes.

As the lecture was short, Wathen B. Henderson, superintendent of Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, was called upon to fill in the remaining time, which he did by reading from his interesting lecture on the "Early History of Kentucky."

Charles A. Hardy, second vice-president of the Society, presided in the absence of President Judge J. P. Parmenter, and introduced the speakers. Miss Marion E. Shirley read the secretary's report. Mr. and Mrs. Chester P. Davis, 13 Addison street, were elected to membership.

Fourteen members of the society visited the Bay State League at Tufts College last Saturday.

singing. Her presentation of arias from Wagner's music drama, "Tannhauser" will be one of the highlights of the evening. The second part of the program will also include other Wagner music, the ever popular overture to "Tannhauser" and the thrilling Prelude to Act III of "Lohengrin". The symphony of the evening is to be Brahms' Symphony Number One, in C Minor.

Advance ticket sales indicate a wide interest in the forthcoming concert, which is a most unusual one to be offered by any community group.

Following is a list of patrons and patronesses of the Arlington Community Symphony Orchestra, Inc.: The Arlington Woman's Club, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bailey, Mrs. J. Q. Obituaries

MRS. CLARA D. EDGETT

Thursday, January 23, brought the death of Clara D. Edgett, who for the past three years had lived with her daughter, Mrs. Donald M. Belcher, at 64 Old Mystic street. She formerly lived in Winchester and was the widow of George F. Edgett, well-known Boston tea importer.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the home of her daughter, and were conducted by Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany in Winchester. Burial was in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge.

Mrs. Edgett was born sixty-five years ago in Manchester, New Hampshire, the daughter of Henry L. Dutton and Harriet F. Parker. For some years she was principal of the Hancock School in Boston. She was a member of the Winchester Country Club, which was well represented at the funeral services.

FRANCIS M. ROWE

The funeral of Francis M. Rowe, a life-long resident of Arlington, and for many years employed in the shipping department of Filene's, Boston, was held Monday from his late home, 426 Massachusetts avenue. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Agnes Church by Rev. Fr. McCann and burial was in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery. The pall bearers were Robert Thomas, Fred Walter, Herbert and Edward Teehan and Leo Mar-tel.

Mr. Rowe, who was the husband of Lillian M. (Watt) Rowe, died at Symmes Arlington Hospital last Friday of acute appendicitis. He was born in Arlington fifty-three years ago, the son of Patrick and Mary (Reilly) Rowe. Besides his wife he is survived by a son, Philip Rowe, of Arlington.

CHRISTOPHER THIBODEAU

Funeral services for Christopher Thibodeau, who died at his home, 126 Massachusetts avenue, of a cerebral hemorrhage last Sunday, were held Tuesday morning from his late home. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church and burial was in St. Paul's Cemetery.

The deceased, who had lived with his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Leighton, for the past two years, was born in St. John, New Brunswick, seventy years ago, but had lived in the United States for forty years. He was the son of Samuel and June (McCormick) Thibodeau.

Mr. Thibodeau was for many years, until he retired 12 years ago, connected with the American Tool Company in Boston. Besides his sister, he is survived by three brothers, Charles of Arlington, Joseph of Cleveland and John Thibodeau of Boston.

PLINY B. FISKE

Pliny B. Fisk, who had lived in Arlington for the past forty years, died at his home last Sunday. He was in his seventy-fourth year. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at his late home, 61 Bartlett avenue, and were conducted by Rev. L. L. Barber, pastor of the Orthodox Congregational Church, the town of his birth.

The deceased was the son of Pliny and Orrilla H. (Peck) Fisk. On the death of his father in 1872, the family moved to Greenfield where he prepared for Amherst College, from which he graduated with the class of 1885. Following graduation he came to Boston, and until he retired in 1929 he was connected with the Heywood Wakefield Company, which was formerly Heywood Bros. Co.

He was secretary of the New England Furniture Exchange, a member of the Orthodox Congregational Church, and of the old Arlington Boat Club. Surviving him are two sisters, Miss Hattie A. and Miss Mary P. Fiske, who lived with him.

ROLLO M. CHANDLER

Rollo M. Chandler of 16 Lombard road, well-known Arlington artist and founder and head of the art department of the Boston Herald, died at Wyman House of the Cambridge Hospital yesterday afternoon after a brief illness. He was seventy-two years old. Funeral services will be held tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at half past one o'clock at the Orthodox Congregational Church, and interment will be at Lunenburg, Vermont, the place of his birth.

Mr. Chandler's portraits have been exhibited in Arlington, and have secured wide attention, not only here but everywhere. One of his recent contributions to the Boston Herald was a remarkable portrait of Will Rogers, published shortly after the death of the great humorist.

The following is from this morning's Herald:

"He was the son of James B. S. Chandler and Emily Fish Chandler. At the age of 20 he settled in St. Johnsbury, Vt., where he worked on the St. Johnsbury Republican. Later he became manager of the art department of the Monitor Publishing Company, in Concord, N. H. Coming to Boston almost 40 years ago, he started work with the Hub Engraving Company. When The Herald formed its art department, Mr. Chandler was asked to manage it. He made the drawing for the first line cut ever used on The Herald.

"Despite his busy life, he always managed to study and do outside art work. He illustrated many text books for leading publishing houses. His hobby was to paint portraits and make etchings and miniatures. At one time he made as many as 40 portraits a day.

"He had a large collection of portraits painted by himself of stage celebrities, all autographed by his subjects. Among these are George Arliss, Otis Skinner, Julia Marlowe, Joseph Jefferson, David Belasco and Henry Irving.

"He was a Mason, being a member of two lodges, Fourth Estate lodge of Charlestown and Hiram Lodge of Arlington. During his younger days in Vermont he had belonged to the Vermont Press Association and was well known at conventions and celebrations of that organization.

"He is survived by his widow, Sarah Merrill Chandler, and two sons, L. Reginald Chandler of Hingham and Paul V. Chandler of Arlington."

MASSACHUSETTS POLICE CHIEFS TO MEET HERE

The Arlington Police Department will be host to the Massachusetts Police Chief's Association when it holds a regular meeting at local headquarters next Tuesday afternoon. The members of the Arlington Board of Selectmen will be the invited guests.

THE SHOE IS ON THE OTHER FOOT

When the Wagner bill was pending before Congress, organized labor insisted that the so-called "majority rule" sections should be left in. These were the sections which in effect at least denied to any minority group the right to have a say about what wages and working conditions should be.

Congress passed a bill stipulating that representatives for purposes of collective bargaining with the employer should be chosen by a majority of the employees. Industry's spokesmen warned that this method would deprive minorities and individuals of any voice at all.

Now, out in Indiana, there is a labor conflict between the "vertical" and "horizontal" unions. The vertical union theoretically represents all the workers in the plant; the horizontal unions represent workers in various crafts.

The National Labor Relations Board ordered an election to see who should represent the workers for collective bargaining. Immediately, craft or horizontal union workers expressed fear that comparatively unskilled vertical union workers would control the negotiations.

The craft unionists concluded, in the words of one of their spokesmen:

"Two rights remain to the minority, the right to present grievances to the employer and the right to strike. The first right has little practical force, while to strike when a decision has been rendered in favor of a governmentally-approved majority would tend to a loss of public sympathy."

That was the point industry tried to make months ago—even the minority should have the right to be heard.

Here and There

The political pot is one which will boil whether we watch it or not. Right now it is steaming up in good shape in Arlington, just as in the nation as a whole. The Citizen's Committee has announced its slate for the election March 2, with Hollis M. Gott, James R. Smith and Earl A. Ryder at the top, and it is expected that the Civic Committee will follow very shortly. Although there seems to be some question, quite likely the latter slate will be headed by Selectman George H. Lowe, Jr., John E. Mitchell, present chairman of the Board of Public Works, and William B. Barry, former moderator.

Mr. Lowe and Mr. Mitchell are running for re-election, and Mr. Barry is out for the much coveted position of Town Clerk. Mr. Gott, candidate for Selectman, has already served the town in that capacity for six years, his last term ending in 1932. He is now serving his second term as Representative to the General Court from Arlington and Lexington.

Mr. Smith is also well known in local politics. He is running for the Board of Public Works, and he also has had experience in the office to which he aspires, being a former member of that body. Mr. Ryder, candidate for Town Clerk, is the third veteran campaigner. He is at present a member of the Board of Assessors, serving his second term.

We may safely predict a record tally at the polls this year. People are unusually politically-minded, anyway, and in addition, as far as the local election is concerned, there will be a vigorous, not to say bitter, contest for every office.

We have been maintaining strict neutrality in the Italian controversy between Messrs. Grano and Riccardi, which has been running in the Advocate for the past four weeks. But we have one correction to make. In introducing one or two of the letters by Mr. Riccardi we made the mistake of calling him an attorney. We now learn that he is not an attorney but a student.

Much to their regret, the Friends of the Drama last week produced a one-act play called "Monkey Do". What we thought of the play appears in the review of the same; so no more need be said in this column. But the author would like to publicly express his thanks to the many who expressed disbelief that Parker Wood could have written the atrocity. We consider that that doubt was an expression of real loyalty.

The fact remains, however, that Parker Wood did write every word of the thing, and we are in a position to know what we are talking about. We are also empowered to say that Mr. Wood plans to spend his every leisure moment in the effort to atone. Monkey didn't, but maybe the next one will.

SOPHISTICATED ONLOOKER.

MRS. MARY COBB QUIETLY OBSERVES 93rd BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Mary E. Cobb quietly celebrated her 93rd birthday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Mead on Tuesday, January 28. Mrs. Cobb was born in Arlington in the old Pattee house which her brother, William Pattee later sold as the site for the Robbins Memorial Town Hall.

She attended Miss Susan E. Rice's private school in the Annie Bradshaw house, on Pleasant street, and the Mystic Seminary in Medford. In 1877 she married Otis F. Cobb and lived at Haverhill until the death of her husband in 1882, when she returned to her brother's home with her daughter, Florence. Later, she made her home with Mrs. Elmyra Whittemore on Massachusetts avenue, corner of Water street, where she lived for twenty years. At Mrs. Whittemore's death Mrs. Cobb lived the following seventeen years with Mrs. Edith Michelson, until Franklin Wyman's purchase of the property, when she moved to the corner of Pleasant street and Pelham terrace, where this past May her daughter passed away, after years of invalidism.

Herbert Pattee, Mrs. Mabel Pond and Jessie Pattee are Mrs. Cobb's near relatives who make these closing years happy, as do the Meads with whom she now lives.

IN 1886

Fifty Years Ago This Week

Tuesday evening, as Mr. Rodney J. Hardy's horse, driven by his son, was passing up the avenue at a rapid clip, he was struck in the breast by the shaft of a sleigh approaching in the opposite direction, and received injuries from which he died a few minutes later. The parties in the sleigh inflicting the damage are unknown.

The Highland Hose people thought they heard the centre fire alarm bell on Monday evening, and set their own ringing. Soon all the bells in town were clanging a general alarm, and practically every man, woman and child in Arlington was in the street before the mistake was discovered. It was a terrible night for a fire, anyway.

"The Ladies' Battle", which was given in the Unitarian Church vestry on Wednesday was a most enjoyable three-act play. Miss Bucknam carried off the palm for acting. Others in the cast were Mr. Celley, Mr. Parmenter, Mr. Bucknam, Messrs. Gates and Leavens and Miss Hodgdon, who took second honors in our opinion.

There is severe famine again in Ireland.

We regret that our edition fell so far short of meeting the demand for papers last week. It would be well for those desiring any quantity of papers to order in advance. Our agents are given enough copies to supply the usual demand, but no great surplus is published, as is the case with the city dailies, which thus "pad" their circulation figures.

The Boston Elevated Subway system is now so nearly completed that a company of officials and guests rode through the entire length from the West Boston bridge to Harvard square in Cambridge last week in 12 motor cars. Chief Engineer Geo. A. Kimball of Arlington, directed the tour and pointed out interesting details in the construction.

The organization of the Women's Aid Association of the Arlington Hospital is completed and is as follows: President, Mrs. True Worthy White; Vice-President, Mrs. Trueman Lee Quimby; Treasurer, Miss Ellen W. MICHAEL FREDO WRITES LONG ARTICLE IN THE SUNDAY GLOBE shared the Italian view in the matter of the League of Nations versus Italy, there have been those—though I am happy to state very few—who have had the temerity of questioning our loyalty, as if the League's interests were those of the United States. We could with greater propriety and more force question their loyalty, but let that pass.

It is well to remember that a group of able and distinguished Senators, headed by our own Henry Cabot Lodge, refused to permit the United States to join the League mainly because the League would be under the complete domination of one nation, and the fear that we would be outstripped in any controversy, in which we had an interest, which might arise and which did not jibe in with those of that nation or group of nations. We have since persistently refused to join or have any part with the World Court largely because a good many interpreted that move as entering the League by indirection. Time has fully justified our attitude.

Proposes a Solution

"Were the League of Nations composed of parties actuated by justice and fair play, of nations repentant of past deeds, ready to redistribute some of their ill-gotten gains in proportion to their needs, as represented by their respective populations, so as to bring about real, lasting and assuring peace to this too much troubled world, then surely this nation would be justified in cooperating with the group of nations constituting the League and in throwing our moral influence in favor of peace. But where 'peace' means economic suffocation—yes, possibly complete destruction—to a highly civilized nation like Italy, which has become highly industrialized in the last two decades, where 'peace' means permanent economic slavery to 44,000,000 of people while the League is concerned merely with preserving the status quo, it ill becomes our country to aid and abet the nations composing the League—or, to use a colloquialism—to pull their chestnuts out of the fire and thereby incur the danger of burning its fingers for their account.

"There is a maxim in the law of equity that he who comes into a Court of Equity must do so with clean hands, and another to the effect that he who wants equity must do equity. When the nations constituting the League have conformed themselves to these two maxims then they may seek our aid and we shall be ready to lend our influence for world peace. But until then we refuse to have them beg the issue with high-sounding precepts. We must, if we wish to be just, look at the realities.

"It is easy for us here in America with our immense resources and our great extent of territory, with a density of population of less than 40 persons to the square mile, 3000 miles away from countries beset by all kinds of economic and political problems, to piously wish for peace. But peace is just as much at heart to the average Italian as it is to us. It is a great deal to wish for and to struggle for. But where there is complete starvation in some countries and starvation staring in the face in others then struggle must necessarily ensue; the struggle to live, to exist. It is nature's own law. We have in our own way contributed to the world's ills by our erection of insurmountable tariffs and exclusion barriers. Yes, we, too, are waging a constant war and our customs barriers are our trenches and Ellis Island is one of our main batteries.

Italy's Right Recognized

"Everyone admits in theory at least Italy's right to expand. Even England's own statesmen have publicly so stated. With a density of population of almost 300 to the square mile, with practically no natural resources, it is remarkable that Italy has been able to develop as far as she has. At the very first meeting of the League's Assembly in 1920, through its delegate, Tommaso Tittoni, then Italy's Minister of Foreign Affairs, Italy submitted to the League her national problems. She suggested the pacific expansion of her population and her need for a safe supply of raw materials. Year after year, Italy has sought by peaceful means and moral persuasion to make the League appreciate its problems, but to these persistent demands the League has listened smilingly, almost contemptuously and then turned a deaf ear. Italy tried to find a satisfactory solution of its problems by peaceful penetration in Abyssinia. In 1928 it entered into one of its many treaties with that country by which both countries would have greatly benefited. The Abyssinian Government, with the short-sighted cunningness of a primitive community evaded carrying out its share of the undertaking. In fact, it systematically opposed it and began mortgaging its natural resources to other Powers and resisted all efforts of development by the Italian Government.

"It has been in vogue for years to describe England's method in acquiring other people's territory as her 'genius for colonization' but when other Powers seek to do the same then they are conveniently called 'aggressors' and disturbers of the world's peace. If England kept aloof, if she allowed the Italian-Ethiopian expedition to remain what it was intended it should be; purely a colonial expedition, a punitive expedition in order to remove the dangers of incursions and massacres by the Ethiopian tribes and permit the development of Abyssinia by Italy for the betterment of her own people as well as those of Italy, there would be peace. But if England goes hat in hand, as she seems to have succeeded in doing, around the Powers of Europe beseeching them to combine with her to stop Italy then, of course, the peace of the world is disturbed and another World War is in the making.

Some Direct Questions

"Developments have shown that if England had not encouraged the Negus, Italy and Abyssinia would have adjusted their differences without bloodshed. Must Italy be checked in its natural desire to grow, to develop, to prosper by England? Is Italy forever doomed to servitude to England? Should her commercial trade be subjected always to the vigilant eyes of England, one at Gibraltar the other at the Suez Canal? Why should any nation, England particularly, dominate the Mediterranean and stifle the growth of any Power especially when that Power has its coastal lines wholly and exclusively therein? These are some of the questions of the moment and they are very pertinent. One thing is certain and that is that Italy is determined to live, to be free. She will no longer tolerate being treated as the Cinderella of Europe.

"Naturally the Italo-American by far and large sympathizes with Italy. He would not be worth his salt if he didn't.

"One thing more and I have done. Some of our fellow Americans have taken a dislike to Italy because of Mussolini. Of course, as a general proposition we dislike dictatorships and whenever they are tyrannical they become irksome to the human heart. But there are dictatorships and dictatorships. When a man is actuated by proper motives, when the mainspring of his action is love of country, when he seeks to coordinate and direct the forces of a people not for his own aggrandizement but for its betterment, when he shows himself to be an extraordinary man of will and courage with exceptional capacity and ability to govern, he naturally becomes the idol of a disillusioned people, and that people is willing to follow him and let go some of its so-called liberties in order that life and property be made more secure, in order that its forces may be united for the common benefit, for the greater human welfare. There can be no democracy where there is economic slavery. The Italian people are united behind Mussolini because they see in him the savior of their economic liberties, the hope of their economic freedom. He could not hold his power for one single day if they did not know and feel that. Let us not forget that the average Italian is a political idealist, an individualist at heart. When economic freedom is assured he will demand back his liberties and they will be freely relinquished."

Scout Muster

The Third Annual Muster of Sachem Council will be held in Cary Memorial Hall, Lexington, Friday evening, February 7.

Parents and friends of all scouts and scouters are cordially invited to be present, and participate in the program which will include roll call by troops, welcome to new scouts, recognition of 4-year scouts, awards to troops of citations as tradition builders, the Golden Arch of Scouting, ceremony put on by Troop 4, Belmont, a pageant of 25 years of Scouting by Troop 35, Waltham, mass singing and cheering, and music by the Lexington High School Band. The band has learned several pieces of Scout music and the result will be inspiring.

The decoration of the hall will be in charge of Clyde E. Steeves of Lexington and the program is in general charge of the council troop program committee, Tracy W. Ames, chairman.

Bombay Minister Preaches At Heights Methodist

Because of an unexpected engagement, the Rev. Bashkar Pandurang Hiwale, Ph.D., head of the Department of Philosophy at University of Bombay, India, was not able to fulfill his lecture engagement at the First M. E. Church two Sundays ago, but came last Sunday instead, and not only delivered the morning sermon on "Christian Frontiers in India," which was much appreciated, but also spoke to the Harling Men's Class at its 12:10 meeting the same day. There he particularly emphasized the attention of the Hindus to the apparent failure of Western Christianity. Both his lectures were of the greatest interest.

Young People's Service At The First Parish

Sunday, February 2 is National Young People's Day of the Young People's Religious Union. The Gill Club will conduct the entire service at the First Parish on that day. The sermon will be preached by Mr. Joseph T. Lippencath, Divinity student at Tufts College. His subject will be "Youth's Message to the World."

Miss Mary Turner of Radcliffe, Russell Wise, Robert Turner, Miss Jean Ross and Miss Doris Webster will take a part in the service.

Young people not connected with any church in town are invited to this youth service.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 2.

The Golden Text is: "My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth" (1 John 3:18).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them; insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see; and they glorified the God of Israel" (Matthew 15:30,31).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good" (p. 494).

Crescent Players to Do "The Dead of Night"

Although light comedies have been the chief stand-by of the Crescent Players of the Heights Methodist Church for some time, the society is now preparing for the presentation of something a little heavier, in the nature of a mystery play, entitled "The Dead of Night", to be played in the Parish House of the Park Avenue Congregational Church the latter part of February.

This comedy-drama has been played in Greater Boston several times before, with considerable success. Only recently it was three times presented by the Bradshaw-Friendly Union of the Orthodox Congregational Church.

The scene is in Vermont, along the Canadian border, in mid-winter, a setting which will not require much imagination. The cast is an exceptionally fine one, and rehearsals, under the coaching of Mrs. Effie R. Sweet, are going well.

"Browning—the Man and the Poet" was the topic which Rev. Richard T. Broeg chose when he addressed the January meeting of the Crescent Players of the First M. E. Church held at the church Monday evening. A business meeting preceded the lecture, and refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Dr. Franklin P. Hawkes To Address Trinity Forum

On this Sunday evening, February 2, at 7:15 o'clock, Dr. Franklin P. Hawkes, Principal of the Arlington Junior High School West, will speak to the Forum in the Trinity Baptist Church on the theme, "Guy-Ropes or Roots—Which?" A question period will follow.

On last Sunday evening, Rev. Laurence L. Barber, Minister of the Orthodox Congregational Church, spoke on the theme, "The Present Gambling Craze". All are welcome to these forum programs.

HARLING MEN'S CLASS

The members of the First Methodist Harling Men's Class are looking forward to their next meeting, on February 10, when the Rev. Dr. Ralph Ernest Bayes, chaplain of the Mariners' House, Boston, will address them on the subject, "One Hundred and Twenty-Five Years of Unbroken Peace with Our Northern Neighbor (Canada)". Dr. Bayes has made a specialized study of this topic for some time, and his talk is sure to be stimulating and interesting.

PRAYER LEAGUE

The 1936 and the final series of meetings of the Massachusetts Prayer League will start early in February at the home of S. Storey, 454 Franklin street, Cambridge, and end with the annual visit to the Friday night prayer meeting of the Park Street Congregational Church, Boston. A list of these meetings can be obtained from N. N. Hartwell, president of the league or from W. E. Valentine, local member of the board of control.

MEN OF CALVARY

The "Men of Calvary", of which Charles H. Bowker is the president, is now in its second year. This organization is the successor to the "300 Club" and the "Calvary Men's Bible Class". Last year under the leadership of Paul A. Ziegler, its first president, the organization enjoyed an average attendance of about fifty men. A very interesting series of discussions on present day topics is being planned by the Executive Committee and it is hoped to build up the 1936 attendance to at least 100.

POPULAR PRICED OPERA IN BOSTON FEBRUARY 24

For the first time in Boston the Monte Carlo Opera Company, recently organized for the purpose of presenting the most popular works of the operatic repertoire in the larger American musical centers outside of New York, will give a short season of grand opera at the Boston Opera House, at popular prices. Opening on Friday evening, February 21st, the engagement will last through the following week and the week thereafter, business permitting.

Maestro Cesare Soderò, well-known all over the country, will share the musical direction with Eugene Plotnikoff of Moscow and Monte Carlo. A Russian ballet, specially trained for the tour by L. Fokine, will add a welcome addition to the opera performances.

Settings will be as flattering to the eye as the large symphony orchestra and well trained chorus will be pleasant to the ear.

The opening performance on Friday evening, February 21, will present to Boston, for the first time, the famous diva, Goeta Ljunberg, in Puccini's "Tosca". On Saturday matinee, (Washington's Birthday) "Carmen" will be given with Dreda Aves, formerly of the Metropolitan. On Saturday night "Rigoletto", with the sensational coloratura, Grace Panvini. On Monday evening Leonora Corona, the most beautiful Opera prima donna in the world, will introduce to Boston Massenet's opera, "Thais", given here only once before. On Wednesday evening, "Cavalleria" and "Pagliacci", with Sydney Rayner. On Friday night "Faust" with Santa Biondo, formerly of the Metropolitan, in the role of Marguerite. Saturday matinee, Virginia Pemberton in Puccini's masterpiece, "La Bohème". Miss Pemberton, a recent and valuable addition to the roster of American opera singers, will appear as Mimì. In "Aida" on Saturday night, February 29, Leonora Corona will appear in the leading role, interpreted with so much success by her on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House.

Boston, like many other large musical centers, had its share of experimental opera at low prices of admission, which occasionally left a doubt in the minds of the public whether the costly production of lyric drama can be offered for less than what such organizations as the Metropolitan and the

It is reported that she is well on the road to recovery.

WILLIAM GILLETTE RETURNS TO THE BOSTON STAGE

A triune advent of momentous importance occurs at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, on Monday evening, February 10th, and continues for two weeks, when John Golden will present the most distinguished actor in America—William Gillette—surrounded by an all-star cast in a great play. The list of players includes James Kirkwood, star of stage, screen and radio; Charles Coburn, one of this country's most eminent stars; Brandon Tynan, star and dramatist of many triumphs; Elizabeth Love, a brilliant young actress; John Blair, whose artistry has placed him among the big names in the theatre; Isabel Irving, one of the most beloved and gifted women on the American stage; William Post, Jr., a talented young actor of stellar qualifications; Scott Moore, Addison Pitt and others, in one of Mr. Golden's greatest comedy successes, "3 Wise Fools", by Austin Strong.

To John Golden goes the credit of having induced that magnificent actor to emerge from his retirement of several years, and return to the stage as the venerable Mr. Theodore Findlay, retired financier, in this delightful comedy, "3 Wise Fools".

nearly four hundred dollars, which might seem to others like a fair rate of return at such an early date.

ATTENTION TICKET SELLERS

All cash returns must be turned over to the treasurer, Henry E. Keenan, at 601 Mass. avenue, Arlington, or to John K. Winner, 10 Jason street, Arlington, not later than 8 p. m. January 29, 1936. No ticket not marked "Paid" on the treasurer's check list will be accepted at the door—Cash admittance will be accepted at the door.

As previously announced, there will be a concert from eight until nine o'clock, when the grand march will start with many notables in the parade. The march will be under the direction of Chief Archie F. Bullock of the Police Department.

It is also suggested that any resident of Arlington, not planning to attend the ball, but interested in the fight against infantile paralysis, may make a direct contribution to the local fund, which will be spent in Arlington under the direction of the Arlington Visiting Nursing Association. Checks may be mailed to the treasurer, Henry E. Keenan.

PROPERTY OWNERS URGED TO POLL FULL STRENGTH

However, a fair estimate seems to be about 2700 are eligible. The situation seems to arise in most cases where the husband or wife own the property and the other has not registered. Other cases appear where both husband and wife have not registered at all, and in a great many cases children in the family have not registered. There are quite a few people who have permanent residence with property owners, but have not registered.

The Board of Registrars have this year liberally placed its time at the disposal of those who care to register, and the Taxpayers Association urgently recommends that every eligible voter in town see that his or her name goes on the list. The Town Hall is to be open from February 10 to February 19th inclusive, and various schools at specified dates in the evening.

The Taxpayers Association feels that the time is fast approaching when every vote is going to be needed to stem the tide of spending. The Taxpayers are carrying the biggest part of the burden and therefore they should see to it that every possible vote is on the list.

The many members of this Association are urged to personally see that their friends and neighbors are registered.

HOLLIS GOTT FOR SELECTMAN HEADS CITIZEN'S COMM. SLATE

Earl A. Ryder Nominated for Town Clerk. James R. Smith for Board of Public Works. Committee Meets Again Monday.

At a lively meeting of the Citizen's Committee at 1195 Massachusetts avenue last Friday night, the committee's slate for the 1936 town election in March was finally ratified.

The Advocate is informed that there is still some question on the name of Daniel M. Hooley for Park Commissioner, since a friend of Mr. Hooley said at the meeting that the commissioner would refuse nomination for re-election. But since then it is learned that Mr. Hooley plans to run and will probably accept the nomination at the next meeting of the committee, which will be Monday evening at 1195 Massachusetts avenue.

The full slate of the committee is as follows:

Moderator
ALBERT W. WUNDERLY
Selectman
HOLLIS M. GOTT
Board of Public Works
JAMES R. SMITH
Town Clerk
EARL A. RYDER
Treasurer
CHARLES A. HARDY
Tax Collector
EDWARD A. BAILEY

POLITICAL POT SHOTS

In spite of the fact that John Winner did not get the support of the Citizen's Committee for Town Clerk, it is understood that he intends to remain in the race, since the contest seems to be developing into a free-for-all.

Latest report has it that Gordon Weir will make a bid for the office of town clerk, which will be left vacant by the retirement of Mrs. Fairchild.

The Advocate is also informed that Tax Collector Edward A. Bailey will have some competition. Paul Griffin is going to run for the office as the candidate of "the other side."

WASHINGTON STOPPED RADIO CRITICISM SAYS ROTARY SPEAKER

fore the Rotary Club at the Middlesex Sportsman's Association Clubhouse. In his opinion the answer to the farmers' difficulties is co-operation and cooperatives. The solution of their troubles lies with them. He definitely opposes class legislation.

The association which he represents has operated successfully, has now a membership of 1800 farmers doing a three and a half million dollar business annually. One week after the Supreme Court declared the A.A.A. unconstitutional, signed substitute orders were received by his association from Secretary Wallace. These regulations penalize the organization selling the most milk and distribute three quarters of a cent a quart to those unsuccessful in selling. His organization refuses to subscribe to the act as it would retard normal business growth.

General Manager Selby made this and other statements detrimental to the administration over the radio but has not repeated his address, as pressure from Washington was immediately brought to bear upon him to prevent a repetition.

Herbert Buttrick, president of the David Buttrick Co., Inc., introduced the speaker.

BROKEN BONES SUFFERED IN COASTING ACCIDENTS

Coasting accidents involved three Arlington people on Sunday. Alice Haker of 70 Decatur street was taken to the Lawrence Memorial Hospital in Medford with a broken arm. Alden Coolidge, 21, of 77 Oakland avenue suffered a broken leg while tobogganing on the Henderson farm. John L. Piko, 9, of 174 Newport street broke his nose when he coasted into a parked car on Scituate street.

quests for a hearing to members of the Nominating Committee—and, in addition, sent a formal letter to the Chairman of the general committee—it seems that it would have been courteous and fair to have given me the opportunity to state in person my qualifications for the office of Town Clerk.

I think that this statement should be made in fairness to my friends who may feel that I failed to be endorsed by the Committee after due consideration and a personal hearing. I had no opportunity to state my qualifications before the Nominating Committee.

ABSCONDS WITH $1450 FROM LOCAL NATIONAL BANK

tice is also on his track, as are agents of the bonding company.

Rich has been in the employ of the bank ever since he graduated from high school ten years ago. He formerly lived in Medford, but for some time has been rooming at 27 Central street, near police headquarters. The last time he was seen in Arlington was Sunday, the day following the alleged robbery, when he left the house at noon with no luggage.

The local police have made a thorough investigation. It was discovered that most of the money said to have been stolen was in denominations of $50 and $100. Rich left all his personal belongings behind. An investigation of his character seems to reveal that the young man was a "sport" in the old-fashioned sense of the word. It is reported that when off duty he was a heavy drinker and was inclined to gamble. The police say that he wagered small amounts but was in the habit of placing bets every day on the number pool.

REPLIES TO MARSH'S "HORSE SENSE" LETTER

The Directors are pleased to learn from you that the final cost of the horses to the town is now at a figure which appears to be reasonable. We certainly desire to co-operate whenever possible, but when the facts are difficult to obtain we may feel obliged to comment, even though rapid changes of conditions may cause some embarrassment.

Our Directors feel that any further discussion, either pro or con, on this subject which your department seems to have well in hand, can serve no useful purpose to the town.

Respectfully yours,

JOINT BOARD

As a result of a public hearing on proposed alterations to Bow street and Wyman street, the board voted to insert an article in the annual Warrant for such construction. On Bow street it is proposed to straighten the bad curve near the Arlington Machine Company in preparation for new construction by the state. At Wyman street and Massachusetts avenue it is planned to round one of the corners while the property to be effected is not being used.

A hearing was held on the proposed laying out and acceptance of Hibbert street, and it was voted to include this street in the annual warrant.

Obituaries

JOHN LYONS

Sixty-seven years ago an eight-year-old Irish lad was set down from the train at Hill's Crossing in Arlington with fifteen cents in his pockets, the residue of the cost of his journey from Ireland. This lad grew and prospered and on Tuesday of this week he died a wealthy man, and one of Arlington's most respected citizens, as well as one of its biggest real estate owners and tax payers. His name was John Lyons.

Funeral services were held from his late home, 22 Elmhurst road, this morning and hundreds of his friends, associates and town officials crowded St. Agnes church at ten o'clock when solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated. Burial was in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

Mr. Lyons was born in Ireland seventy-five years ago, the son of Daniel and Ellen (Long) Lyons. When he came to Arlington as a boy his parents had already made their home here, his father being in the employ of the Wyman family on their farm. Young John followed the same line of occupation, and when he reached manhood went into the market gardening business for himself. How he prospered is part of Arlington's history.

He was a director of the Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank, a charter member of the Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus, member of the Boston City Club, the Boston Market Gardeners Association and the Middlesex Sportsman's Association. One of his friends remarked recently that if he had a small part of the money Mr. Lyons has given away he would not have to work for the rest of his life, and if he held some of the mortgages that Mr. Lyons has torn up out of the kindness of his heart, he would be a heavy taxpayer.

Surviving Mr. Lyons are his widow, Mrs. Catherine (Purcell) Lyons; two sons, Daniel A. Lyons and James E. Lyons; three daughters, Miss Gertrude M. Lyons, Miss Lillian M. Lyons and Miss Marion R. Lyons, all living at home; and three sisters, two of whom live in Arlington, Mrs. J. J. (Jennie) Lyons, and Miss Ann Lyons.

MRS. NAOMI AKERS

Funeral services for Mrs. Naomi Akers, who lived at 25 Wollaston avenue, were held Tuesday afternoon at the home of her son, Gerald R. Akers of 123 Oak street, Braintree, with Rev. Fredric Armstrong, rector of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Weymouth Landing, officiating. Burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Ashmont.

Mrs. Akers died last Saturday at the Massachusetts General Hospital, following a long illness. She was born in Provincetown, daughter of Neadom and Honora O'Brien, and was the widow of Henry S. Akers.
